

Cane - Jean Toomer	 Cane Jean Toomer (1894 - 1967)   Reading this book, I had a vision of a land, heretofore sunk in the mists of muteness, suddenly rising up into the eminence of song. Innumerable books have been written about the South; some good books have been written in the South. This book is the South. . . . Part One is the primitive and evanescent world of Georgia. Part Two is the threshing and suffering brown world of Washington. . . . Part Three is Georgia again . . . this black womb of the ferment seed: the neurotic, educated, spiritually stirring Negro. From the Forward by Waldo Frank   Read by Jim Locke. Total running time: 04:40:33   This recording is in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission. For more information or to volunteer, visit librivox.org.   Cover image from the first edition. Copyright expired in US, Canada, EU, and all countries with author's life +70 yrs laws Cover design by TriciaG. This design is in the public domain. 	Cane - Jean Toomer
--------------------	---	--------------------